The Covid-19 pandemic has shed new light on the importance of funeral rituals and connecting with loved ones over death and loss.

The world has had to rethink how to provide this connection while practicing social distancing.

While we know that this adaptation is temporary, our friends at Lantern continue to provide insight on how to handle end of life with grace.

Lantern provides practical tools for will-planning, guardianship concerns and insurance. They also share creative ideas on how to memorialize loved ones during this crisis and more.
Visit Lantern for their list of Covid-19 end of life resources.

End of Life Resources during Covid-19